

Camp Fellow- Want a summer job and like working with children. The Camp Fellow will be a good fit for you.

For nearly 100 years, Dorcias International Institute of Rhode Island has helped new arrivals and those with cultural and language barriers to achieve autonomy through education, employment services, refugee resettlement, family literacy, interpreting and translating, and immigration and citizenship services.

The Camp Fellow will support classroom teachers and assist camp participants with their educational activities for Camp Newcomer, a summer learning program for K-12 refugee and unaccompanied minor students attending Providence Public Schools. Camp Fellows will work closely with classroom teachers during the morning sessions of camp, developing and implementing level-appropriate learning activities and exercises. Camp Fellows will also organize recreational activities, exercises and events that supplement campers' academic experiences while providing social and cultural enrichment.

The candidate should have the following

- ✓ High degree of self-reflection and professionalism
- ✓ Desire to learn from others and work in collaborative environments
- ✓ 18 years of age or older
- ✓ Volunteer or paid experience with curriculum development, tutoring, or teaching youth ages 5-18 preferred
- ✓ Subject matter expertise/experience in specific content areas preferred
- ✓ Eligible to work in the United States

Why should you apply?

- Temporary- Full time/summer position June 29, 2017- August 11, 2017.
- Build your experience with k-12 students.
- Learn from experience teachers
- Prevent Students from summer loss
- Make a difference in a child's education.
- Make $16.00 dollars an hour

The Interested applicant should send their resume and cover letter to Human Resources at Msique@diiri.org by 5/1/2017.